NEW-HAVEN MEN LOST A GOOD CHANCE TO WIN LOTS OF CAMBRIDGE MONEY-A POSSI-

DEFEATS.

DEFEATS.

The remainder of the local army of football enthusiasts who went to Springfield on Saturday and helped to make up the remarkable assemblage at the Yale-Harvard game at Hampden Park returned to the city yesterday pretty well tired out, but still full of enthusiasm over the scenes they had witnessed. The crowd itself was well dressed, well behaved and thoroughly representative of the best class of America's business and social life. There was so disorder, crowding or mushing, and the only complaints no disorder, crowding or pushing, and the only complaints no disorder, crowding or pushing, and the only complaints heard were over insignificant details, the principal one being on the subject of score cards.

Now that the game is over and Yale has again overcome what appeared to be heavy odds, the question arises why Yale should prove unconquerable in football. Harvard has won only one game from Yale in seventeen years, and yet the Crimson has been the favorite in many of the battles. The Harvard money fairly swamped Springfield on Saturday, and bets on Harvard in the open streets and at Hampden Park were offered at material odds, yet no Yale money was forthcoming to cover them.

am and coaches were not confident that they win. Yale followers unquestionably missed the

To those well versed in physical culture the result win to be a surprise, for these were the people who, after the first half had been played, were confident that Yale rould win. The two teams were of almost exactly the ame weight, yet the Harvard men appeared to average everal pounds heavier than their more youthful rivals. That tightness of skin, clear eye and hungry look which haracterize every perfectly trained athlete were missing a the Harvard eleven. Hinkey's men might have been ompared to a pack of hungry wolves, and Waters and is men to overfed irish setters. There was not that slap bang." "get there, Ell." spirit in the Harvard or in her system of play. A change of trainers night do Harvard's athletic interests a world of good, nd could certainly do no harm. Deland's chessboard ricks, like theories, always start off well, but they soon lose effectiveness and vanish into thin air. Deland is an enthusiast on ancient battlefield manocuvres, but to date he has not been able to adapt his theories to foot-Il with any astonishing degree of success. Had Harvard s result might have been different.

Itili. Yale's victory was nobly won, and Hinkey and men deserve all the plaudits bestowed upon them. Sutterworth, particularly, again covered himself with dory, as he did in the Pennsylvania game. He allowed inself to be used as a battering-ram when Yale made er frightful rushes up the field where she scored her only touchdown in the second half. The line work of Stillman, McCrea and Hickok was also far above genral expectations. It looks now as if Princeton would have a hard time even scoring against Yale on Thanks-giving Day at Manhattan Field.

The army of speculators who infested the streets in the vicinity of Hampden Park caused much comment.

Iost of these speculators were from New-York, and very one of them was well supplied with choice seats, or which they demanded exorbitant rates. It might be detecting to know how these men managed to secure

Nearly all of the officers, to-gether with the ladies of the post, were present, and greatly enjoyed the game. There was also a large crowd present from adjacent villages. The game took place near the soldiers' new hospital, and, as it is off cadet limits, they were supposed to be debarred from witness-ing their favorite sport, but nearly helf the corps viewed it from under shelter, of of size, of the officers. # THE HISCOCKS SUE FOR AN ACCOUNTING.

LITIGATION ARISES FROM THE FAILURE OF A SYRACUSE BANK TO PAY DIVIDENDS.

Syracuse, Nov. 26 (Special).—The Third National Bank of this city has not paid dividends in five Bank of this city has not paid dividends in five years and an action has been brought against the officers and directors to compel them to give an accounting. Among the plaintiffs are ex-Senator Hiscock, Frank H. Hiscock and Albert K. Hiscock. Some curious work is alleged in the com-plaint. In 1887 Lucius Gleason gained control of the bank by clever purchases of stock, and at the next election excluded the Hiscocks from the Board of Directors. Soon after the capital stock was in-creased from $300,000 to $400,000, but still no divi-dends. The plaintiffs want to know where the money has gone, though it is said the earnings were put into United States bonds.

Louis Marshall, attorney for the defendants, said to-day: "The substance of the whole thing is this: Mr. Glesson and Mr. Hiscock were old friends. Mr. Mr. Gleason and Mr. Hiscock were old friends. Mr. Gleason had helped Mr. Hiscock in many ways, but the time came when the latter thought he did not need him any longer and taking advantage of proxies turned Mr. Gleason out of the presidency of the Third National Bank. But he did not act with his ordinary forethought, leaving the bars down so that at the next election Gleason acquired enough stock to control, and Mr. Hiscock and his friends found themselves out of the Board of Directors. Mr. Gleason never expressed himself as intending to run the bank for his own interests, nor has that been the policy of Mr. Lacy. They sought to strengthen the bank, and instead of paying dividends at stated periods, thought best to wait a reasonable time until the bank should increase its assets. I have personal knowledge of the circumsunces under which the stock of the bank was increased from $300,000 to $400,000, and I deny that Mr. Gleason ever agreed at that time that he would or would not pay dividends at any particular time."

SOME COMMENTS ON MR. FISH'S STATEMENTS DEGARDING THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 26 .- George R. Malby as Spealer of the Assembly said: "I expect to be elected. One might infer from the recently published interview with Mr. Fish that there had been a consultation between Congressmen ton and others for the purpose of advising Mr. Fish's candidacy; but I notice that Mr. Hackett promptly denied that there had been any conference Congressman Sherman denied that he favored Mr. Fish, and Congressman Belden and Senstor Stapleton have been for me from Mr. Ainsworth himself that he will do all he can toward my nomination and election."

Seing asked how he accounted for the statement by Mr. Fish that the latter has thirty-eight votes, Mr. Malby said he did not account for it, and seither does Mr. Fish unless there be some truth in the published statement that the Democrats will vote for him.

In conclusion Mr. Malby said: "I have received personal pledges from a sufficient number of the members-elect to satisfy me that I will be elected." ton and others for the purpose of advising Ma

HARD TIMES ON TERRAPIN FARMERS.

Baltimore, Nov. 26 (Special) .- The hard times have affected even the terrapin market. Maryland terrapin is the favorite of epicures. Last winter the demand from New-York, Boston and Philadelphia was so great that the large dealers here were afraid the supply would run short. So far this season the demand has been light and the supply has also been limited. The Aght and the supply has also been limited. The expected holiday market may exhaust it. The choice diamondbacks are scarcer than ever. Baltimore "counts," terrapins that measure six inches or over, which brought $55 a dozen last year are now selling for $50. The largest specimens are highly prized for their flesh and have brought, even this year, as high as $72 a dozen. The more common varieties, which have not changed materially in price, sell for $15 to $29. Terrapin farming has proved a lucrative business on the "baranca marshes" of the toward.

There was a dinner at the City Club on Saturday night at which a number of city officials feasted on the fat of the lend and of city ductals leasted on the lat of the late and afterward told stories until nearly midnight. There was no politics in it, though there were a good many politicians present. The dinner was given by Police Commissioner Silkman to the Water Commissioners, and other city officers were invited. It happened this way. Commissioner Silkman owns a good many houses, and his water bill is pretty big. A while age Mr. Silkman got the idea that. as he paid for so much water, ne ought to get as low rates as were given to factories and other big consumers. The Water Board decided that Mr. Silkman must pay regular rates. He refused, and Silkman must pay regular rates. He refused, and the case got into court. Then Mr. Silkman, who was sure he was right, made an offer that if he lost the suit he would pay for a dinner to the Water Commissioners, provided they would agree to pay for the dinner if he won. The offer was taken. Mr. Silkman lost the case, and Saturday night he gave the dinner. . . . ## A SCHOONER BURNED AT PARA.

THE GEORGE TWOHY, OF ROCKPORT, ME. DE-STROYED-TOWED BLAZING OUT OF THE HARBOR.

Captain Forbes, of the British steamer Ambro which arrived here yesterday from Para, tells a thrilling story of the burning of the American schooner George Twohy, in the harbor of Para, on the evening of November 10. The Ambrose brought no news of the Brazilian revolution; the natives of northern Brazil being dependent for to this city. They are John Peterson, second mate; Norman Munroe, J. H. Johannesen, August Lahnke, Soderwyk Kok, and George Gusuke, seamen. Captain George Twohy and his first officer are still at Para.

The fire, which totally destroyed the Twohy broke out in the forward part of the vessel shortly before midnight on November 10. The crew were all asleep at the time, and when they were aroused all attempts to save the vessel were futile. The danger to other vessels in the harbor demanded the beaching of the vessel, and a tug was made the beaching of the vessel, and a tug was made fast to her. The blazing schooner was then towed to the mud flats across the harbor. Before dawn approached, however, the rising tide carried her down the harbor, among the shipping. She made a pretty sight, but the crews of vessels were too.
